

A new home for Don't Rush to Crush

A strategic partnership with Advanced Pharmacy Australia will see renowned resource Don't Rush to Crush published by Therapeutic Guidelines from 23 March 2026.

Don't Rush to Crush will become more accessible with a new dedicated web app giving health professionals quick and easy access to content with enhanced navigation, and a modern user interface designed to simplify workflows.

What's New

- Brand new user interface across the web app
- Dedicated product app with over 600+ medicines
- New streamlined navigation for more intuitive access

Trusted by clinicians for 15 years, Don't Rush to Crush is researched, reviewed and consistently updated by multidisciplinary experts for Australian practice. The resource continues to be updated incorporating new evidence, Australia-first dispersion testing, Australia-first oral liquid thickness testing and in response to medicines shortages.

The Clinical Information Access Portal will provide users with a dedicated portal link to support quick access to the new Don't Rush to Crush web app.
